Britain Will Not Interfere

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, March 15—Great Britain will not interfere in the German occupation of Czechoslovakia territory, it was indicated today in statements by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary.

Almost parallel statements were read in the Commons and Lords by the two cabinet leaders shortly after it was announced the government had instructed Sir Neville Henderson, Britain's ambassador to Berlin, to inquire regarding Germany's exact intentions towards Czechoslovakia.

The two statements provided the following features:

- 1—The time is regarded as "inopportune" for Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, and Robert Hudson, parliamentary secretary to the department of overseas trade, to visit Berlin to further Anglo-German trade discussions.
- 2—Since Slovakia has declared her independence and disrupted the Czech state, Britain's policy is to guard herself bound by any guarantee to maintain Czechoslovakia against unprovoked attack.
- 3—Instructions have been given the Bank of England to hold £670,000, the balance of £10,000,000 (£6,300,000) which Britain gave Czechoslovakia after the Munich agreement, which had not been transferred from London to Prague.
- 4—While no charges of breach of faith were made against Germany, both Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Halifax said they do not believe any of the signatories to the Munich agreement contemplated what was happening today in Czechoslovakia.
- 5—At the same time, Mr. Chamberlain said he must regard Chancellor Hitler's orders to his troops as Constable Goughlin, Sergeant Hugh Williams, of Saskatoon, will be in charge of the party of four R.C.M.P. officers selected to be personal orderlies to the King when His Majesty visits Edmonton this June.

Two days later Hitler returned Vienna. The Sudetenland taken over Oct. 1, 1938. Two days later the chancellor went to the principal Sudeten cities, Aush and Reichenberg.

The Swastika flag over Bohemia and Moravia, which have become in effect merely parts of the greater German Reich and probably will be lost independent and lack a common name.

Before the day is over Hitler is expected to proceed like a conqueror of old into Hradec's castle.

Prague Loses German Troops of Occupation

PARIS, March 15—Germany notified France today of the occupation of Bohemia and Moravia and by implication advised the Paris government to keep its hands off the Central European crisis. A note from Berlin declared the occupation was being carried out "in full accord and co-operation with the government of Prague."

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
BERLIN, March 15—Chancellor Hitler, protector of Bohemia and Moravia, sponsor and guarantor of Slovakia, joined his vast cavalcade of soldiers pouring into shattered Czechoslovakia today while Czechs cried "Hitler Pfiu!" at German tanks rumbling through the streets of Prague.

Informed persons said Hitler would reach Prague Friday and that the interval would be used by black-uniformed SS guards—the security service—to make sure that no untoward incident would attend the Fuehrer's triumphant entry into the ancient capital of old Czechoslovakia.

This is in keeping with a practice Hitler observed during his previous entries into capitals of annexed territory. German troops entered Austria March 11. Two days later Hitler entered Vienna. The Sudetenland taken over Oct. 1, 1938. Two days later the chancellor went to the principal Sudeten cities, Aush and Reichenberg.

The decision to send instruction to the ambassador was taken at a cabinet meeting, held here yesterday. Germanys' assembled troops took control of what last week was the sovereign state of Czechoslovakia.

Although the cabinet agenda gave first place to Britain's permanent Palestine policy, Prime Minister Hitler's action in sending troops into the Czech state was hardly in accord with the spirit of Munich.

EXTENSION OF LIMITS MOVED IN LEGISLATURE

Extension of Alberta's boundaries north to the Arctic Ocean is advocated in a resolution which will be moved in the legislature by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

Mr. Fallow's motion asks that all the North West Territories lying west of a line created by extension of the boundary between Alberta and Saskatchewan to the Arctic be added to the provincial area.

He advocates that the western boundary of the area would be the Yukon.

He urges that negotiations to add to this territory, should be commenced with the Dominion immediately "so that transportation facilities now at work be started to

Mr. Fallow contends that the topographical features of the section are such as to lend themselves readily and practically to development only by and through Alberta and that the Dominion government is too far removed to superintend the development efficiently and satisfactorily.

Cabinet And

Premier William Aberhart and members of his cabinet on Wednesday discussed several bills now before the legislature with a delegation from the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

In the delegation were F. D. Sutcliffe, chairman of the provincial legislative committee of the C.M.A.; W. R. Evans, chairman of the Edmonton branch, and Thomas Ashenurst, secretary.

Neither the premier nor members of the delegation revealed details of the discussion.

Pheasants Again Fly In Legislative Discussion—Questions Asked

Government policy is to refrain from disclosing information that might reflect unfavorably on the government, Mr. W. A. Fallick, minister of the legislature on Tuesday in reply to a question by H. Tremblay, Liberal, Groulx, who sought data on the number of pheasants killed by the government in the Dominion-province land settlement plan, together with the amount of allowance, relief or otherwise to each settler.

Mr. Fallick, in reply to another question by Mr. Tremblay, declared it was not government policy to provide copies of pay sheets to anybody. This reply was to a question by Mr. Tremblay asking for copies of pay sheets for road work and maintenance of district and market roads during 1937-1938 in specified areas.

PHASANTS TO FUR

The question of pheasants occupied a few minutes of the time of the house during the question and answer period under Order of the Day.

In reply to questions by E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, Mr. Fallick declared that game branch policy was, in general, to provide pheasants where male birds become too numerous. He said, however, that the game branch was not at present carrying on a breeding program.

Answering another question by Mr. Gray, Mr. Fallick stated that pheasants are given to the public by buying them from licensed game bird farmers and released the birds at various points in the province, but not under government supervision.

Regarding destruction of surplus birds, Mr. Fallick declared that it was the policy to give surplus birds, but only in cases where male birds had become too numerous. Those excess birds are given to the public, but only in cases where male birds had become too numerous. Those excess birds are given to the public, but only in cases where male birds had become too numerous.

At present, he said, the game branch had received requests for destruction of male birds from several points. A small number of male pheasants were killed in the poultry plant of the Ponoka Mental institution.

"In all cases," he said, "the carcasses of these pheasants are given as far as possible to those who have raised and fed them."

James Hartley, S.C. McLeod, entered the discussion on pheasants when he pointed out that the game laws were being broken when served at a recent dinner at Ponoka, which he and Mr. Edith Rogers, S.C. Ponoka, attended.

Referring to an editorial in a Southern Alberta newspaper containing the alleged information, Mr. Hartley said that anything done under the game branch was "under the eye of the game branch."

In reply to another question by Mr. Gray, Mr. Fallick stated that the Dominion government had not made any funds available to the province for construction of a road north from Fort McMurray to the mining area and that the first provincial request for such assistance was made on Sept. 10, 1936, and since then many requests have been made.

REMOVAL OF UNFAIR TOLLS Asked In Legislative Resolution

Charging "unwarranted discrimination" against Alberta in the matter of freight tolls, J. W. Beaudry, R.C. Sault, introduced a resolution in the legislature on Tuesday asking that the government request the Board of Transport Commissioners to remove the tolls which will put an end to the said discrimination.

It was pointed out in the resolution that the general rate structure, by its close connection with production and consumption, affects and creates a heavy burden upon Alberta which raised the cost of living and discriminated against the province.

Mr. Beaudry was unfilled in his address and he will be finished probably on Thursday.

SHOULD GET AID

"My contention is that the west should be granted either lower freight rates or compensation in some form for the disabilities it suffers," said Mr. Beaudry in his speech.

Alberta shared the disability of adverse freight schedules with the rest of Western Canada, but in addition, said Mr. Beaudry, Alberta suffered from discriminations that were not shared by any other province due to the mountain obstacle.

The resolution was not intended as an attack upon the railways but to induce them to consider the fact that they would reduce regional and national economic strength if Canadian confederation, he declared.

Manufactured goods could be shipped from the east on a freight basis, he said, but the cost of shipping for the movement of the goods in other directions, said Mr. Beaudry.

TRADE SUFFERS

Alberta's interprovincial trade suffered greatly due to the high mountain freight schedule, he said, on the local movement of goods to and from the province.

"It is clear every class of our people is being discriminated against through railway rate discrimination as compared with other provinces," he said.

"The primary producers and manufacturers of the west are being discriminated against by the east; distributors in the west are allowed more advantageous rates than those in the east. Alberta distributors are still further discriminated against as they are not permitted to ship goods to the east, Saskatchewan and Alberta."

"A rate rebate on the bulk of goods shipped to Vancouver is one point which shows the inefficiency of our freight rates. It is a schedule of this kind carrying goods at a lower rate to Vancouver and back to Edmonton than direct to Edmonton," he said.

Mr. Beaudry contended that manufactured goods can be shipped from the east on freight rates which are not provided for the movement of the same goods by the other direction.

He pointed out that wholesalers of Alberta were at a disadvantage and freight rates on manufactured articles originating in eastern territory and shipped to various points in the west were higher than those on similar goods shipped to Vancouver and back to Edmonton than direct to Edmonton," he said.

Continuing, Mr. Beaudry contended that "the rate structure from eastern Canada to Vancouver that are appreciably lower than rates to Alberta points, afford British Columbia an advantage over Alberta."

In general, the rates to Edmonton are at least equal to the sum of the joint rates to Vancouver and return to Edmonton and many cases, canned goods, barbed wire, flammable liquids and other articles are much higher.

LOWER RATES "Vancouver shippers can place their goods at a disadvantage in Ontario and Quebec, on the markets east of Edmonton at lower prices than can Edmonton distributors," he said.

Mr. Beaudry, in dealing with interprovincial trade, declared that this phase of Alberta's activity "suffers greatly due to the high mountain tariff schedule in effect on the local movement of goods to and from British Columbia. Alberta is the principal market for British Columbia fruit and it is estimated that altogether, 80 to 90 per cent of the goods of the province enter into interprovincial trade are consumed in this province."

Otherwise, British Columbia imports many of Alberta's national products, including coal, feed and bedding stuffs, cereals, livestock and meat. Yet reciprocal trade is first by high rates from Alberta to British Columbia points and secondly, by the extremely low Gathered together "not to put forth their personal aims but to co-operate in order to bring the problems of the youth of today to the fore," the members of the Edmonton Youth Council attended the opening session of the fourth annual convention in the MacDonald hotel, Tuesday evening.

On the motion of Helmer Haines, member of the executive it was decided that the existing executive be cut from 18 members to seven, included in this reduction were the president, vice-presidents and general secretary. George LeBeau, Helmer Haines, Ben Swank, Paul Carmichael, Viola Manney, general secretary, Percy Boulton, Gilbert Wright, Bill Mah, vice-president, and John MacKay, Thorton, corresponding secretary.

Outlining work done by the Edmonton Public School Board in ministering to the needs of the students, guest speaker Dr. Gordon K. Swallow, senior medical health officer, gave a short review of the work done by the board during the past few years, briefly mentioning that in the past 30 years, one nurse, to two doctors, ten nurses and four dentists.

About 15,000 children are examined medically each year, and those of pre-school age, and those in grades one and five are given a physical examination. The board also provides a medical examination once a year by the doctor.

Dr. Swallow's remarks were followed by an under-estimated problem in always with us and contrary to popular thought there is a more under-estimated problem in the well-to-do sections such as Westmount and Glenora than in the more "poor" districts," Dr. Swallow stated.

PREVENTATIVE TREATMENT The preventative treatment for diphtheria instituted 15 years ago is still going on and within the next few weeks we expect to start out on a campaign of anti-diphtheria shots. The cases heard in the city come from diphtheria, for we have 33,000 children protected by inoculation and each year gain 1,000 to 1,200 new recruits.

"I am sorry to say that the situation with regard to smallpox is not so happy, for we apparently have to have a real epidemic to make people conscious of the necessity for vaccination. It is partly up to the health department to make the situation but it is actually up to the individual," the doctor concluded.

HUGILL SEEKING COMMITTEE MEET

Indication was given in the legislature on Tuesday by J. W. Hugill, K.C., independent, Calgary, that he might place on the Order Paper a resolution calling for a meeting of the public accounts committee.

In the house he said there were several items of expenditure on the part of the government desired for their enlightenment.

Asked what they were, he replied that one was the Social Credit bank, which he said was a very important item.

Mr. Hugill pointed out that he had talked over with the chairman of the public accounts committee the possibility of calling a meeting of the committee.

Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson said that the member, if he wanted the committee called, could place a resolution to this effect on the Order Paper.

SCHOOL GIRL ASKS SAMPLE ELECTRICITY

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin SCHENECTADY, N.Y., March 15.—Electrician pondered the weighty problem of preparing a little sample of his product to send a Bronx, N.Y., schoolgirl who learned about electricity from her geography book.

The girl, whose name was not revealed, sent her request to the General Electric Company.

"Dear Sir: I am writing you to ask if you can send me a little sample of electricity. I am studying about it in geography."

The company reported it could "repare" the sample as soon as a way to duplicate it was discovered.

Reason advanced by the school management committee a request from the student body of the Schenectady High school that the school name be changed to the

Going Up

The assessment of Edmonton property for this year shows an increase over the figures for last year of $189,290. The increase is not large, and its major significance is that it is the first increase registered since 1931. In each intervening year the assessment has declined, resulting in a total shrinkage of about $13,000,000.

This year's gain is due to sales by the city of untaxed property and to the creation of taxable improvements. It thus reflects a permanent, not a speculative, broadening of the taxation basis.

The gain is not large enough to affect the mill rate, but should it continue that will be the ultimate result. And—without a complete revision of the tax system—the only way to bring down the rate is to get tax-free property into private hands and new buildings erected. The property-owning taxpayer will hope that the decline in the downward movement of the assessment total marks the turn of the tide.

Back to the Poll-Tax?

One Alberta rural municipality has imposed a poll-tax of $3 on residents who are not property-owners. It is the municipality of Stockwell, west of Okotoks, an industrial rather than a farming area, in which the number of non-property-owners is relatively high. The proceeds of the poll-tax will go to support hospitals and pay relief.

The poll-tax used to be a fairly common means of raising revenue in Alberta towns. It was abandoned in Edmonton and elsewhere many years ago, on the ground that the poll-tax payer paid twice. It was argued successfully that any services directly, and again indirectly through the rent of the room or the house in which he lived. Naturally the tax was never popular among those who had to pay, and the trouble of collecting was an added reason for its abandonment.

Conditions have changed radically since the days when real estate was the accepted evidence of wealth, and real estate taxation the easiest way to get municipal revenue. Burdens have been thrown upon the property-holder which were unknown in the earlier times, and which are not incidentally any services which benefit him more than others.

Councils of urban municipalities are therefore searching for kinds of taxation which will bring them the money they need, instead of land they do not want. Stockwell may have given a lead to other municipalities where property-owners are the minority, and real estate a movement toward reimposition of the poll-tax as a means of raising revenue for what are called social services.

Another Stride

The expected has happened quickly in mid-Europe. Six months ago Czechoslovakia was forced under threat to surrender territory to Germany, Hungary and Poland, and to accept terms which left its future in the hands of Hitler. He has foreclosed the mortgage. Over-night the Czech-Slovak federation was pulled to pieces. The eastern section is now a Slovak state under German protection. The Carpatho-Ukraine is in process of absorption by Hungary. The 7,000,000 Czechs may—or may not—be permitted a semi-autonomous self-government, and national existence for a time. At best their little country can be only an island surrounded by hostile and avaricious neighbors, unable to protect itself and nowhere in contact with a friendly or even neutral power.

It can make little difference to the Czechs or to the world whether their present status is annexed to Germany now or later. There is little doubt that will be its eventual fate. If annexation is postponed, they will have to take orders from Berlin, disband their army, make trade treaties dictated by the Fuehrer, align their economic system and their political affairs with those of the Reich. Whatever the status they may be allowed to pretend, they are within the "orbit," and their resources in man-power and materials at the disposal of Hitler.

The Fuehrer has resumed his "march to the east." This step brings him to the borders of Rumania, with its wheat lands and oil wells. And, through a compliant Hungary, to the borders also of Yugoslavia. Only a hundred miles of Rumanian territory separates him from the Russian Ukraine, long ago designated as his objective.

The easing of tension which London and Paris noted a week ago is explained. It applies only on the western front. The Fuehrer is marching east—not west.

Safety Demands Action

The building of new houses in Edmonton has long since become more than a question of catering to the comfort and convenience of the resident population or of making room for new comers who have been moving from the city steadily and in quite large numbers for several years. It has become also a question of protecting lives.

Because of the congestion, the city's sanitary regulations in respect to air space have not been enforced for years. Whether the city has suspended, or conspired, also its legal responsibility for not enforcing its own regulations, and permitting admittedly hazardous conditions to exist and intensify, is a matter the council and the taxpayers would do well to think about.

A month or more ago the city's medical officer of health presented a report in which he specifically referred to the danger of contagious disease starting an epidemic because of the crowding of residential buildings. Council has never called for—or has never made public—a report which has been made and filed in the department as to what they think about the fire hazard inherent in these conditions. Council, it may be suspected, is afraid to ask for such a report.

Anyone who knows anything of the situation where some houses have been subdivided into apartments can guess what such a report would be like. Narrow, crooked hallways, steep and crooked stairways, outside stairways coated with snow and ice—these are anything but precautions against tragedy should fire break out. Those who read with horror about the loss of life in a hotel fire that about the premises in Edmonton where there are life in Edmonton which in case of fire could hardly be other than death-traps.

These are the serious, and sinister, aspects of the housing scarcity in this city. They make it something more than a matter of policy on the part of the city council to get from the legislature power to start a housing scheme if private enterprise fails to respond actively when restrictive provincial legislation is removed. In the light of well-known facts council would make itself guilty of culpable negligence if it did not take all possible steps to remedy a housing shortage that has become a very positive housing menace.

Blaming Democracies
It is likely to require something more definite than general statements in support of charges such as that of the Fascist editor at Rome who says that the democracies of the world are preparing military attack on the totalitarian states.

Democracy are arising. It is true, and it appears equally true that they are evolving a stiff front for what totalitarian demands may next be made upon them.

The best test of peaceful intent is tangible, recognizable effort in the direction of peace, as Mr. Chamberlain has suggested on a number of occasions. The British premier just recently proposed an armament reduction conference for Europe. There has been no encouragement to this idea from any dictator state.

Preparation for war does not necessarily mean will to war. One would suggest that not for a minute does it mean will to war in the case of the British nation, France and the United States. One has little hesitancy about suggesting that she is pleased with the idea of Bolshevism in Spain has been exercised and a totalitarian government established there? It may be so, but the assumption of the possibility. In case of war it no doubt matters to Italy whether the gates of the Mediterranean are held by a Government naturally friendly to her, but since there will be no war in the Mediterranean, except of Italy's making, her preoccupation with considerations bearing on a war would not be reassured by any influence Italy's decision. One is the unequivocal declaration made by Mr. Chamberlain recently that he would encourage which would be a declaration in the view of General Franco himself may hold on the subject of Spain for the Spaniards—without Italian aid.

It is in the world in which grade between nations plays little part, and it is at least a tenable thesis, for which there is some concrete evidence, that if General Franco does become ruler of Spain he will consider it quite as much to his interest to maintain friendly relations with a France which could be a powerful ally, as to trade on a substantial scale as to further the ambitions of a restless Mediterranean power which has recently ended to serve that not Spanish. The Spectator (London).

What Does Italy Want Spain?

Italy has sacrificed money she could not afford and men she could not spare in Spain. Does she seek no reward except the knowledge that she is pleased with the idea of Bolshevism in Spain has been exercised and a totalitarian government established there? It may be so, but the assumption of the possibility. In case of war it no doubt matters to Italy whether the gates of the Mediterranean are held by a Government naturally friendly to her, but since there will be no war in the Mediterranean, except of Italy's making, her preoccupation with considerations bearing on a war would not be reassured by any influence Italy's decision. China

More than four thousand shadowy years have rolled by since the days of the Emperor Huang-Ti, when old China first began to count her calendar. Sunday marked one more entry in the long scroll and a new year began, though to young China it was only the 28th since the founding of the republic.

Many gay banners and harmless fountains of firecrackers, this year's celebration had a grimmer note wherever the Chinese rallied. "Herald covered and benign dream of other days failed to wind its way through the streets. There were firecrackers, to be sure; but they effaced distant machine guns. The symbolic light of the New Year's festival was dimmed in the parade; but he was begging money now to match the shiny new motor-ambulance destined for other battles.

In Chungking, as everywhere beyond the trenches, the celebrations were dedications of the New Year's festival. Along the darkened-mile front the guns still challenged the invaders.

"This Year of the Horse" to be the last year of China? The Japanese dream on. Yet there are doubts engendered by last year, the furious year of the Tiger, when the Japanese came to the aid of the Chinese. The schedules called for it and the military experts predicted it. Yet after two years of costly warfare the struggle still goes on. The final outcome is still darkly dawning year—New York Times.

A Statesman Made Pope

The Catholic Church takes talent where it finds it and turns it to use. The late Pope, Pius XI, was of humble peasant stock. The new Pope, Pius XII, is a member of the ancient nobility.

The cardinal assembled at Rome since to have had no difficulty whatever in choosing the pontiff. Pope John XXIII, who died before his death, that it was his wish that his secretary of state, Cardinal Pacelli, should succeed him. Though the Pope had never to bequest his throne, still the known desire of a man who has once wielded such great authority must have gone for weight. Pius XII, it was said, was the nephew of Pius XI. It was rather the cardinal's own fitness for the position. Alarmed by the day of his death, Pius XI had named Pacelli entered the Holy Congregation for Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs—the office of the papal secretaries of state. It is he who remained throughout his career. In this office, he served his apprenticeship to Vatican diplomatic service. He was later transferred to the papal service to Merry del Val and Gasparri. In it, he served as nuncio to Munich and Berlin in the troubled later years of the war and through most of the Weimar republic. He was for eight years as head of the department after Gasparri retired.

The new Pope II, that a distinguished and an ecclesiastical diplomat, a practical ecclesiastical statesman. More than any other man in the church, he has shown the pulse of the international situation. The members of the conclave apparently recognized that the qualities needed in the papacy were the qualities which distinguished Cardinal Pacelli, and so, with what they could, they elected him. Using this, they were not waiting in courage, for, within the past week or so, Dr. Goebbels of Berlin and Count Ciano of Rome have both let it be known that they were, of course, Cardinal Pacelli would not be acceptable—Vancouver Province.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWEN

Western Canada lost a first-class practical farmer and live-stock man and politician a man of good judgment and upright character when death by accident on his farm near Prince Albert carried away Hon. Robert Weir last week. I knew "Bob" Weir at the time when to his great surprise, he became federal Minister of Agriculture.

IN MEMORY OF "BOB" WEIR
Still young as politicians are counted, he would must likely have been first chief officer for that post about the political wheel revolve once more.

His career was an object lesson in hard work applied. "Bob" Weir was instructor in classics at Regina College when war came and he enlisted. Overseas he acquired the Military Cross and a distaste for the academic life. On his return, with his slim savings he bought a weed-grown, abandoned farm south of Prince Albert. With a natural eye for conformation in live stock, he bought cheap a handsome grey mare that was, was blind in one eye. It would make a good story to tell in detail how this young returned man restored that weed-grown farm to fertility, till Hereford Farm became a show place in the district, and how with the get of that half-blind mare he picked up good prize money in the Western fairs.

A relentless chap, who liked best to tell of his experiments in mixed fodder crops, "Bob" Weir had to be high-pressed into accepting a nomination in 1926. It surprised him that he was the farmers of the district, putting aside party politics to support a good neighbor who had made high success of his own farming. He was still more surprised when he was elected.

A REAL FARMER FOR MINISTERS
Premier Bennett—yielding to the urgings of the Live-Stock Breeders' Association—made him type to be his Minister of Agriculture. When he left his farm to go to Ottawa to be sworn in, I drove with him as far as Regina. During the long drive he told me his life story and his political life was not much of a partisan in politics as it would have him free to devote himself to his department. Yet he who tried to take a fall off of the new minister on the floor of the House, found he was well able to take care of himself.

He achieved one of his hopes in being able to lift the embargo against Canadian cattle, and have live-stock shipments resumed to Great Britain. It was typical of him, that after the Bennett government failed of re-election, like Lincoln returning to his cabbage patch, he returned gladly to his farm at Weldon to resume the life of a western producer.

The Nazis have taken a Vancouver-built ship—some of the war-time products of the B.C. shipyards—was a training vessel for the German merchant marine. She is one of the five-masted schooners of the "Isabel Brown" type, on whose trial trip I had an opportunity of sailing.

GERMANY GETS A.B.C. VESSEL
The ship was built by the Vancouver Shipbuilding Co. and was named "Isabel Brown" after the German explorer and ship captain who was in the Baltic last year. He gave her American registry, re-named her "Isabel Brown" and sailed her to the German port of Koenigsberg and was refitted at a cost of 10,000 marks. That was where he made his mistake.

He planned to pay for the ship by a bill of exchange for a load of German pulp to America. Half the cargo was loaded when something happened. The ship was seized by the British and the cargo was unloaded, and the ship was sold to the British.

Spain Woes Wheat

Editor, Bulletin: I was impressed with that Edmonton Bulletin editorial dealing with the inescapable bread-burn in Spain, and the possibility that some of the so-called "surplus" wheat could be put within reach of the hungry Spaniards.

While the well-informed U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that embattled Spain will call for some 120,000 bushels of the bread grain (either as wheat or flour) during the 1938 crop year, it is obvious, from the following official figures of the estimated production in Spanish wheatlands for the past three years, that credit arrangements plus the hunger of the people should be a serious consideration.

1935 bushels..... 157,986,000
1936..... 121,402,000
1937..... 120,000,000
1938..... 95,500,000

"That shrinkage of more than 62,000,000 bushels—more than 40 per cent—between 1935 and 1938, in wheat alone, is a sobering thought. It is a sobering thought, too, that the wheat acreage in Spain, for the moment, is about 7 million tons from the annual harvest, which is a serious situation.

As I see the matter, the "world wheat" farmer was one of the earliest victims of "totalitarianism," and he was also one of the first to feel the benefits of friendly international relationships—if and when achieved. In the meantime the grain is likely to be "rough," and it is up to the Canadian people to rally to the aid of the starving Spaniards. "Canada" synonymous with "quality wheat" all around the earth. For the time being, it is a "surplus" wheat in existence—far more than the world needs—millions of people are undernourished, of which people also, Canada has a share. — BUSINESSMAN.

"Herridge's Clarion Call"
Editor, Bulletin: In reading Hon. W.D. Herridge's speech in the Bulletin I found a lot of food for thought in his criticism of the two old line parties. He was not afraid to charge them with serving the few and not the many who elected them to do their utmost for Canada and its growing people. We must be less admiring the spirit and character of Mr. Herridge in addition to that he found it all to avail, when he was one of the members of the Conservative party, and gave them unusual and often to the detriment of the people.

He recalled that he was in a Fascist den, which would not listen to the voice of the people. He told us cause they are dictated to from St. James Street, Wall Street, and the high finance, who keep pocketing the bayonet in the backs of the conservative and the wealthy democracies. He told us how far to go and when to back up, so that both parties charge them serving the few and not the many who elected them to do their utmost for Canada and its growing people. Minto Threat
Much Too Much Howl Is On

So far as Edmonton is concerned, the big news of the day is the 3-1 win by the Prince Albert Minors over Moose Jaw in the first game of the Saskatchewan junior hockey final. Snowhow it was generally taken for granted among those parts that Moose Jaw would walk through the Minto without any undue effort and be here in time to meet the E.A.C. as the first game of the western semi-finals on Saturday night.

The only grounds for such beliefs were that Regina Abbots had managed to keep within four or five goals of the E.A.C. in an exhibition game and that Moose Jaw had later on eliminated the Abbots. More or less isolated in the northern part of the province, the Prince Albert Minors were overlooked by the majority of Saskatchewan experts. But when it comes to hockey, it is generally bad business to overlook Prince Albert. It is one of the hottest hockey cities in Canada for its population.

Two of the Minors came up into junior ranks this season from the Prince Albert juveniles of last year. Defencemen Jim Colter, 180 pounds, came from Portage La Prairie; Tony Merewick, a right winger weighing 170 pounds, came from the Humboldt Juveniles. Four other members of the squad had no previous experience in organized hockey. The Minors are evidently a real home-grown crew of juniors. They are a good bunch of youngsters with forwards running from 160 to 170 pounds and defencemen, scaling around 180 pounds. Moose Jaw Canucks however have heavier forwards than P.A., but the two defence units scale out about the same.

Big Profit Headaches

In these days you hardly believe that anybody is suffering from a headache induced by too much profit from his investments, but that is exactly what the owner of racing tracks in California are suffering from today. There is a red-hot race brewing in the sunshine state over the profits that racing is piling up. The howl is being provided by the merchants of the state and other groups that have always been opposed to legalized race betting. Governor Culbert Olson, who has just taken office, is the man who has to listen to the anvil choughs—and reports are that the music has him mighty nervous.

On Monday of this week, Santa Anita finished up its 52-day winter race meet. The total amount of bets handled through its wickets was $24,843,513 for a daily average of $468,174. Santa Anita is reported to have a 16 per cent cut on each pool while the state took six per cent. That means Santa Anita took in $3,425,958. However the anti-racing bias is becoming so strong that Santa Anita denied a percentage on the last day's betting to charity. That amounted to $114,596.

This is the fifth year for Santa Anita—the most palatial track in the world—the dream that Doc Strub, the old baseball operator, made come true. It made a million its first year, two and a half millions its second year, and around three millions each in the third and fourth, while the present season runs close to three and half millions. It is the cream of the California crop because it takes especially to the big shots, the movie people and the minded lads who like to play with them. From 10,000 to 20,000 people attend each day. The play that sends the "handle" king upwards is made through the $100, $50 and $20 wickets.

Much Too Much Gallop

CALIFORNIA'S problem isn't so much the fault of racing as it is the fault of the state to establish a proper control over the business when race betting was legalized. The state was inclined to the ancient and vicious belief that government should not control business. No sooner was one track sucking in millions than a score of other groups demanded the right to build and operate tracks. The state finally assented.

Now California is polluted with tracks and racing. Out of the 265 days of the year there are 265 days when racing is underway at various tracks in the state. There are 25 agricultural fair tracks operating alone. Then on Sundays you can motor over the border into Mexico and find more racing underway. That means that nearly every day of the year Californians are exposed to the betting lure.

It has been estimated that $60,000,000 is wagered annually through illegal bookies alone. "The take" on this is many times larger than the 14 per cent state and tracks split between them. Hundreds of small merchants and business men are making their money by catering to the betting public. Wives bet the money their husbands give them to pay the grocer and baker—and husbands bet the cash they should give the wife.

If there is one business or sport that should be government controlled and operated, it is horse racing. That won't make it perfect, but it will eliminate the major part of present abuses. The only hardship government control will bring will be the loss of easy pickings for a few favored millionaires.

First Night Marks Passed In Five-Pin Tournament

HARRY ADAMS' great 856 total for three games remained unbeaten at the close of the second day's play in the 11th annual five-pin bowling tournament being held at the Recreation Alleys. Top man in last night's play was A. Holt, who turned in a fine 849, but his total was below both the opening night's scores turned in by Adams and Campbell Scott.

But there were new names to follow five of the six remaining divisions. The Cameron-Kearr entry were really trailing the little ball in the "A" division doubles for a 1602 total that was well ahead of the Newsums' double top 1311 of the night before.

Finishing fighting round over leader ship of the mixed doubles with a great 1421, E. Mayr topped the "B" singles with a running 842, the Murphy-Smith entry picked up good "B" doubles with 1204 while Bank of Montreal gained to the top of the "B" team competition with a great 2060 score.

Bills Bumbers made a gallop attempt to pass B.C.M.A. with a sparkling 851, but were unable to pass the brilliant 904 chalked up by Mounties on the opening night.

TEEDSMUIRS THROUGH CITY ON WAY WEST

Vice-Regal Party Remains in Coaches During Early Call

Travelling in two private cars attached to the C.N.R. westbound transcontinental train No. 1, Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general, Lady Tweedsmuir, and their attendants, arrived in Edmonton at 4:30 yesterday morning, and remained in the city for an hour before continuing their journey westward in Vancouver.

As the regular vice-regal private coaches, which are finished in Royal Purple, are now being decorated for the use of King George VI when they visit Canada in May and June, the vice-regal party are travelling in two private coaches belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway—the Mount Stiebel and the Strathcona.

Remain Inside
There was no sign of activity on either of the vice-regal coaches until shortly before the train left the station, when white-robed attendants could be seen moving about inside. But neither Lord nor Lady Tweedsmuir nor any of the aides accompanying them.

Besides their Excellencies, the party included: Mrs. George Page, secretary of the governor-general;
Colonel, Captain David Walker,
deputy adjutant-general, R.C.M.C., and Robin Scott, R.N., aide-de-camp.

Porter to the party was George Hartman, of the C.N.R., who accompanied many vice-regal parties on their journeys.

Approximately 600 battle-worn veterans of the Spanish war have returned to Canada since February of last year. Many of them are suffering from the loss of limbs, and others faced with the grim problem of beginning all over again. Some of the friends of the veterans are working wholeheartedly to help them overcome, according to Lieut. William Kardish of Edmonton.

Mr. Kardish, himself a war victim, is the last night in town in the Dominion concerning meetings and lectures in aid of his cause.

"At present there are 23 veterans here, all natives of Edmonton, and many are expected in the near future," Lieut. Kardish said. "Edmonton is faced with the problem of helping them become rehabilitated and friends of the soldiers are contributing to the fund for $200 for this purpose."

MAJOR APPROACHED
The local committee, under the supervision of A. Fowle, secretary of the organization, is endeavoring to secure help from the city for some of the returned men. Along with Lieut. Kardish and Miss Berke Buha, who is accompanying the latter on his speaking tour, Mr.
Fowle is planning an interview with Mayor W. Fry in regard to the problem of the returned men on the relief rolls.

Funds will be raised through the fund subscription, ice days and social events.

David Stone, 314, of 401-22 street, returned home shortly after being reported missing Tuesday, his mother informed police.

H. A. Johnson, Montreal, of Canadian Industries Ltd., registered at the Macdonald Hotel, where he is here on a business trip.

Annual election of officers of the Edmonton Golf Club will be held Tuesday. T. G. Brown is retiring president and there are eight offices to fill.

Brother of Mrs. Ian McLean, 1034-18 street, John A. C. Bogart, 314, city manager of Fernandina, Florida, died last early this morning. He was the son of the late P. C.
Bogart of Edmonton, and of Mrs. C.
Bogart, now of Victoria.

Mother of Robert Gavin, 1183-25 street, Isabella Gavin, 1744 Dundas street, died at her home in Vancouver Saturday. She was 74 years of age. Her husband, Robert Gavin, is a railway engineer. She leaves a son and a daughter, Isabella, both in Vancouver.

Canon citizens expect to see their community leader ahead in coming year and are optimistic about the future of the city of the province.
The future of the city of the province will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Edmonton Chapter of Commerce, which will be held

City Man Killed in Spain

Victim of Spanish Civil War

In the above photograph taken in the Spanish Loyalist trenches is pictured Jack "Red" Bloom, left, holding the banner. A former Edmonton boy, he was killed at Brunete, near Madrid, in July, 1937.
"Red" left Edmonton in February, 1937, to join the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion. One of the 24-year-old Edmonton men said that he was the most popular Canadian with the Spanish people due to his bright red hair. His companion on the right is drawing a local perhaps on a human target.

INSURANCE LEVEL AT PAR PARKER AVERS

Speaks At Underwriters' Meet-Bowen, Manning Are Heard

Value of insurance will always remain at par, no matter what circumstances there may be in the future, said J. C. Parker, general manager and secretary of the Insurance Association of Alberta, at the annual meeting of the Western Underwriters Association Wednesday morning in the Macdonald Hotel.

Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial minister of finance, also spoke at the meeting. He said that the insurance industry is one of the most important of the province, and that the government is interested in its development. He also mentioned the fact that the government is interested in the insurance industry as a means of raising revenue.

Mr. Parker said that despite the war years, the "big epidemic" of the war with its great toll of life and property, the insurance industry has not only survived but has grown in importance. He said that the

Terry Pin's Tips On

POETRY

A poet is a writer who can't type well enough to last out a novel. There are many kinds of poets. Poets who write of beauty with a tinkle like that of bells in their lines—like dinner poets. Nature poets, who live in a New York penthouse, where the sound of a rustling tree won't disturb them at their work. Women poets write about Love as a rule. Sometimes they write about social problems, or if they are very ugly, they write with a message, which is all another way of writing about love. Poetry is the music of the soul which is why a great many modern writers should learn to play some musical instrument. People are tired of hearing about love. Revolutionary poets never have any rhymes in their poetry, and frequently need a haircut quite as much as a vocabulary.

Debunker

BILOUSNESS IS NOT ALWAYS CAUSED BY AN EXCESS OF BILE. Rather than being caused by too much bile, biliousness is often just the opposite, the result of too little bile. This condition often follows the obstruction of the bile ducts, that carry the fluid to the small intestines. The fatty foods cannot then be properly digested, and this hinders the rest of the digestive process. Headache, dizziness and loss of appetite may follow, as in constipation, which is often erroneously called "biliousness." Jaundice is the yellow condition that results when bile is absorbed into the blood and carried to the skin and eyeballs.
